

AUTUMN 2015

Dunstan House is now closed for our winter break after a wonderful long hot summer. We have enjoyed hosting an increasing number of visitors choosing Clyde as their base while making the most of this weather to experience many of this region's outdoor pursuits. We have met an increasing number of cyclists biking the Roxburgh Gorge and Clutha Gold Trails and many also then go on to ride the Central Otago Rail Trail. Congratulations to our local operators who have put together fantastic packages over the season ensuring clients have a positive experience.

The heritage precinct of Clyde is buzzing with the recent completion of Olivers development comprising the Victoria Store Brewery, the reopening of Olivers Restaurant and Bar and a café and delicatessen bakery called The Merchant of Clyde. It is great to have a variety of dining options available for both locals and visitors to our town.

Very soon the village centre will also have free Wi-Fi thanks to our Clyde on Sunday market group who continue to reinvest any financial gains back into the community.

Over winter we will complete earthquake strengthening and building maintenance of Dunstan House to be ready to reopen in the spring.

Cheers Maree and John
